This Week's News...

This week we welcomed Colin Powell – Director of Education for the Southwark Diocese - to look around our fantastic school. He commented on the great range of writing on display, wonderful art work that permeates the curriculum, and the high quality learning in every classroom.

On Monday, Marit Muenzberg, from the London College of Communication, came in to work with year 4 on a collaborative piece of artwork based on heroes in the community– keep an eye out for its final unveiling.

On Thursday some of the leadership team attended a talk by Professor Dylan Wiliam at Dulwich College. He spoke about the latest educational research and engaging children in their learning, which is at the heart of all we do.

And finally, there are many exciting events taking place over the next few weeks. Please keep an eye on all of the dates and put them in your diary. Don't forget to download the ParentMail app for easy access to events and information.

Have a great weekend,

Mr Bell, Miss Crank and Mrs Harding

Sun Kim at the Natural History Museum

To jump start their project on all things bones, Sun Kim Class visited the National History Museum. They became skull detectives, attempting to classify the animal by its teeth and its diet. We saw bones, fossils and even some dinosaur art.

Jam Extended Schools Update

Just to let you know Jam now offers 'Adhoc Sessions' at the after-school club. This means that if you have an emergency and need an after-school place we can help. You will need to email us and complete a registration form with the £10 fee, then call or email us to check if we have spaces for your chosen day.

Year 4 Art Project

Year 4 are entering the final stages of their collaboration with the London College of Communication. We had an exciting session with Marit Muenzberg, who helped the children resolve some of their design issues and realise their ideas for the collaborative art work we will submit as our final piece. You will be able to see the children's art work on display at LCC from 11th -15th July.

Opera project

Today, Smit Class took part in a Create and Sing Carmen project with the Royal Opera House. This is an incredible project that culminated in pupils performing their own version of Carmen, including specially arranged extracts from the opera. They learnt the basics of dramatic singing, improvising movements that developed into scenes and learnt some of the music from the opera Carmen.

International Evening

We are thrilled to announce that our International Evening will be held on Wednesday 3rd July from 5pm-7pm. It is a wonderful opportunity for our whole school community to come together and celebrate.

Look out for more details coming your way.
